The only superiority of the ignorant ignorant to the educated ignorant, as he pointed them out, was that the fallacies of the former were usually harmless, while the profound errors of cultivated persons often were highly mischievous.

Bard of Avon's Innocent Error.

He proceeded with many illustrations and digressions, getting frequent applause. As an instance of harmless ignorance, he cited Shakespeare's reading of the Bohemian in "A Winter's Tale," in which a strip of coast is an-nexed to it.

Overlooking the attempts of some Shakespearean scholars to prove that

It was the night of the play in Grangefield. There was great excitement in the town, a sort of grown-up excitement of the same kind that children feel on Christmas eve.

Long before 8 o'clock streams of people were converging toward the opera house and the country roads were alive with incoming cars.

"Some crowd, I'll say," remarked Bud Andrews, his eye glued to the people in the curtain. "Looks like a bird's-eye view of a caviar sandwich. If they expect to crowd any more in here they'll have to let out a hook in the opera house."

Behind the scenes there was the customary hectic hurry incident to the first production of an amateur play. Every player was keyed to the highest tension.
Out in the body of the house a rising hum of voices registered the eagerness and the size of the audience won't flop back. He's got to submit to the acid test, and it's got to be applied P. D. Q."

With these reflections, and convinced that he was acting for the good of a dear friend, Bud made hasty preparations. He was sorry to ruin Harry, provided Harry felt, but it was the only way he could think of to save Emily. If Elgiate came through all right, so much the better. If he didn't, Emily would have time to rearg before it was too late.

The audience was becoming impatient. A few desultory handclaps, like a first scattered shots of a battle, grew in volume until the house was in a clamorous uproar. The boys in the gallery were whistling and stamping, and the orchestra was drowned in the din.
Harry Elgiate, in his white smoking jacket, rushing back forth behind the curtain like a captain marshaling his forces for the zero hour. Excited performers, each wholly concerned with himself, were clutching him

PREMIER BRIAND COMPLETES NEW FRENCH CABINET

Deputies to Vote Upon Selections Tomorrow.

BY EDWIN L. JAMES.
(Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.)
(Copyright: 1921.)

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Aristide Briand at noon today accepted the task of forming a new cabinet. At 6 o'clock this evening he went to the Elysee palace and presented his slate to President Millerand. This slate is not yet final. It will be changed tomorrow in an effort to please enough party leaders to assure the Briand cabinet of a majority when it faces the chamber of deputies Tuesday afternoon.

It is by no means certain tonight that the chamber will approve Briand, as premier, but it is probable. If he is not approved there will be no chance left for President Millerand except to name M. Poincare, who is demanded by the majority of parliament, but whom M. Millerand fears because of his views that the treaty of Versailles should be enforced now by military strength.

In Accord with President. This is a policy Millerand would follow only as a last resort, and in that respect M. Briand is in accord with the president of the republic.

M. Briand told friends tonight he expected opposition. He will do his best to overcome it, and inasmuch as this is the sixth time he has been named premier of France he has some experience in the task. He said he would go before the chamber Tuesday with the best combination he could get and that chamber could take it or leave it.

Personnel of Cabinet. This is the slate:
Premier and minister of foreign affairs—Aristide Briand.
Minister of justice—M. Colrat.
Minister of the interior—Pierre Marraud.

Minister of war—Louis Barthou.
Minister of finance—Paul Doumer.
Minister of marine—Gabriel Guisthau.
Minister of public instruction—Victor Berard.
Minister of agriculture—M. Laredu.
Minister of commerce—Daniel Vincent.
Minister of labor—M. Bonnefoy.
Minister of pensions—Andre Maginot.
Minister of public works—Yves Le Troquer.
Minister of liberated regions—Louis Loucheur.
Minister of hygiene—M. Strauss.
Minister of the colonies—M. Sarraut.

Probable Changes. One of the changes which will be made probably will be the substitution of another name for that of M. Marraud as minister of the interior. M. Marraud belongs to the left, and the right wishes very much to control this office, which supervises the elections.

M. Briand has assumed the difficult premiership against his personal wishes, and this has created a great deal of public sentiment favorable to him.

By the same token there is a great deal of criticism of former President Poincare, who refused membership in the cabinet unless he could be premier or minister of finance with full power to negotiate on the indemnity. Poincare is too much of a fire eater for President Millerand and that is why he turned to M. Briand as the one man who could keep M. Poincare out of the premiership.

Is a Popular Leader. M. Poincare's continual damnation of Germany and his preaching that the allies should lay down the law and then enforce it with an army make a great appeal to the popular imagination, but M. Millerand places too much value on the cooperation of England to take a chance of losing it by precipitate action on the part of France.

M. Poincare's friends still hope. They hope that even if M. Briand gets a vote of confidence on Tuesday he will soon show he cannot make Germany pay and that then the chamber can turn to the former president of the republic.

M. Briand has the support of the vast majority of the French newspapers.

TO CALL LLOYD GEORGE

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Following completion of the new cabinet this evening the premier Briand it was learned that the new premier will ask Prime Minister Lloyd George immediately to fix the date for a supreme council meeting at the earliest possible time.

The Austrian situation has been placed on the agenda of the supreme council following receipt of a plea from the allies' representatives at Vienna that immediate action be taken to save the nation from dissolution and starvation.

Turks Smash Greeks in Asia Minor, Claim

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 16.—According to a Turkish Nationalist communication, dated Friday, the Greek offensive in the Eskişehir region in Asia Minor has been stopped. It says they yielded along the entire front under the Turkish pressure; that the Greek retreat was disorderly and costly, one entire division having been destroyed.

Woman Organist Slain; Husband in County Jail

Algonia, Ia., Jan. 16.—Mrs. Minnie Benjamin, wife of L. T. Benjamin, for fifteen years organist at the Congregational church here, was found dead in the kitchen of her home here last night with her skull fractured. A blood-spattered hammer was found a few feet from her side. Her husband, who is ten years her senior, is in the county jail, charged with her murder.

THE "SHOW UP"

Two hundred victims of thieves gathered at the Desplaines street police station yesterday to look over 200 suspects, rounded up by the police during the night. Several robbers were identified. Many of the suspects had previous police records. Lieut. Ira J. McDowell (in the center) is "introducing" the suspects behind him.

EX-KAISER'S HEIR LONGS TO SUCCOR THE FATHERLAND

Would Return, but He Fears Plotters.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 16.—Frederick William, former crown prince of Germany, in an interview given the editor of a German weekly published in The Netherlands, gives the reasons why he does not return to Germany, why his wife does not join him in his sojourn at Wieringen, and why he does not join his father, the former emperor, at Doorn. Frederick William also sets forth his plans regarding the education of his sons.

"Naturally I would be glad to return to Germany and I would be happy if I could devote myself to agriculture, particularly to horse breeding," he is quoted, "I would rejoice to associate with the learned men at Breslau university and regain what I lost during the war and at Wieringen. I would like to use what little power I have to help build up the fatherland, but that cannot be."

Fears to Involve His Innocence. "My many friends in the Fatherland and abroad would see my hand in every deed which others might begin but of which I, perhaps, would know nothing at all. Unrest would follow, and our poor Fatherland needs rest."

"Why does not my wife come here? Believe me she would gladly do so. But there is no chance of such happiness and good luck, as we are gripped in the vise of duty. She has the training of our children at heart and must direct it. Our sons must learn to make themselves useful commercially."

Wilhelm and Luitpold (the latter a pet name for one of the sons) are now going to the gymnasium at Potsdam. The elder one wants to become an agricultural farmer and go later to an agricultural college. Luitpold feels that he has the talent for a mercantile career and is planning a tour of the world in a German merchant ship, and to learn the modern languages.

Wants Sons to Be Useful. "I have nothing against their plans if they result in the boys becoming useful men. They are studying hard and have no time for amusements or sports. They need a father's care, too, but that cannot be."

"I cannot go to my parents at Doorn. Our opponents are continually trying to put us in the position of being ready to set the world on fire; and if we were together, then, in the eyes of our opponents, the overthrow of the world would be a question of but a short time."

Carl Stepana and his jailer. The wounded gunman didn't want his picture taken last night. A recent photograph of him, taken when he was not so bashful, is shown above. Stepana was wounded when he tried to hold up First Deputy Alcock's chauffeur. He escaped from the hospital and was recaptured yesterday.

TEXTILE TOILERS MAY STRIKE TO AVERT WAGE CUT

Boston, Mass., Jan. 16.—Representatives of unions in many textile centers of Massachusetts and Rhode Island affiliated with the Amalgamated Textile workers today were authorized today to report to their organizations that the Amalgamated was pledged to give all support possible, both moral and financial, to any local branch which should strike against the recently announced wage reductions in New England.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 16.—The Philadelphia district council of textile workers today decided to resist strenuously any wage scale reductions. Most manufacturers recently announced reductions ranging from 10 to 25 per cent, threatening to close plants if not accepted.

NATIVE FILIPINO MAY TAKE PLACE OF GOV. HARRISON

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) Manila, P. I., Jan. 16.—Gov. Francis Burton Harrison will leave the Philippines March 27 for London, according to information given out at his office today. He plans a long vacation in England and Scotland. There is much speculation regarding the possibility of a Filipino successor to act as governor while he is away. Owing to the fact that Vice Gov. Charles E. Yeater has not notified Gov. Harrison whether he will return to the Philippines from his home in Missouri, the secretary of the Interior Theodore Roosevelt may be named, as provided in the Jones law.

Belgian Metal Workers Give Up Commune Plans

BRUSSELS, Jan. 16.—The metal workers at Chateaufort, near Charleroi, who had occupied plants there with the intention of running them on a communistic plan, have been induced by the labor leaders to leave the various works and order has been restored. The unemployed in eastern Flanders, including textile workers, are estimated now to number 45,000.

Capt. Max Danner and Dr. Rudolf Gries, who was arrested Saturday as an art thief. Dr. Gries, for years a prominent north side physician, told the police that he is near death, due to an infection sustained while making medical experiments. To ease the pain he has become a morphine addict and has filled his flat at 673 Sheridan road with stolen objects of art which he craved.

Chile Is Contemplating Ambassadorial Shakeup

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 16.—It is reported in government circles that Ambassador Mathieu at Washington will be retired on a pension and will be succeeded soon by Luis Quintero, now Chilean minister at Buenos Aires.

Luis Aldunate, it is reported, will fill the vacancy at Paris and Jorge Matte will be appointed minister to Argentina.

Mexico City, Jan. 16.—The cabinet held a short meeting this morning to discuss the notes received from England and the United States protesting against the decision in the Nalca Mining company case. Evidently the government plans to accede to the demand of the oil companies who have protested against property owned before the new law was enacted being affected by its provisions.

It is understood the department of industry, under Rafael Zubaran, will submit a project in this sense for the approval of President Obregon next week. With his approval the project will be presented to congress, where it will pass, as Obregon controls a large majority of the congressmen.

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16. Reciprocity is being urged by some Republican leaders in congress as the best underlying principle for the new tariff law. Several large industries also are advocating it, particularly the automobile and lumber industries.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has suggested that a special law be enacted permitting the president to have the power for commanding fuel for the army and navy in emergencies.

Commercial representatives and shippers from south Atlantic and Mississippi valley states will meet here this week to take action designed to block efforts of eastern railroads to have cancelled an existing through export freight rate to south Atlantic and gulf ports.

Representative Britten of Chicago announced that he had made practically certain that congress would take care of an emergency appropriation necessary to continue the operation of the Great Lakes naval station.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, declared tonight that the meeting of representatives of all affiliated federations unions called for Washington on Feb. 23 was for the purpose of devising plans to meet the "open shop" campaign being waged by commercial and industrial interests of the country.

Attorney General Palmer has been asked by the senate judiciary committee to appear next Tuesday to reply to charges filed with the committee that he has been ignoring and violating the law in his administration of the department of justice.

Fear for Fate of Crew in Boat Caught in Ice Float

TOKIO, Jan. 16.—Communication was lost again today when the ice breaker Baikal, which was last reported to be caught in a great ice floe off the coast. Fears for the worst concerning the fate of the crew were expressed.

12 NAVY PLANES ARRIVE SAFELY IN CANAL ZONE

3,200 Miles Covered in 17
Flying Days.

PANAMA, Jan. 16.—Naval officers here are enthusiastic over the successful completion of the flight from San Diego, Cal., to the Canal Zone by twelve of the navy F-5-L seaplanes, which arrived here Saturday evening. The NC-5, one of the two planes which has not yet arrived, is said to be twenty-five miles off San Juan Del Sur. The crew is safe aboard the destroyer Mumford. The other plane is expected to-day.

The flight, which covered 3,200 miles and was completed in seventeen flying days, was marred by one fatality. Chief Radio Electrician Cain having been killed at Fonseca Bay on the western coast of Central America. He was struck by a propeller. The flyers encountered squalls in crossing the gulf of Tehuantepec, and were given a severe shaking up.

Only One Landing Forced.

The flight, which ranks well up among the longest on record, was over a course never before traversed by aircraft and the aviators arrived here with a record of only one forced landing.

Starting from San Diego on Dec. 30, the seaplanes made nine stops—Bartolome Bay, Magdalena Bay, Bandera Bay, Acapulco, Salina Cruz, Fonseca Bay, Punta Arenas, Bahai, Honda, and Panama.

Towers Taken Ill.

Commander J. H. Towers, a naval aviator who flew across the Atlantic, became ill with appendicitis on board a supply ship which did not carry a doctor. A seaplane called by wireless brought a physician from another vessel.

The jump between Salina Cruz and Fonseca Bay, nearly 500 miles, was made by the fourteen machines without stop. The delay of the two machines which did not arrive with the main squadron was due, according to Capt. Mustin, to lack of power, these planes having only three motors each, while the others carry four.

U. S. WOMAN AND 2 MEN SEIZED IN BERLIN 'SWINDLE'

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—An American and two companions in an alleged swindle are in custody. The woman's maiden name is said to have been Virginia Fairfax. Police assert she married a German named Moll, who died a year ago, and came to Germany nine years ago.

The woman and her accomplices, according to the police, under the pretext of organizing a food relief bureau with the aid of American funds, a year ago, succeeded in obtaining duty free import licenses for more than 100 car loads of foodstuffs. Of these supplies thirty carloads are declared already to have entered Germany and to have been transferred to private speculators.

Tokio Would Welcome Vanderlip as Envoy

TOKIO, Jan. 16.—[Delayed.]—News dispatches stating that President Harding contemplates the appointment of Frank A. Vanderlip as United States ambassador to Japan have been well received in this country.

The Yorucho Choho, an independent organ, says:

"Mr. Vanderlip is pro-Japanese, and his appointment as ambassador at this present time, when relations between Japan and the United States threaten to become complicated, would promote friendship."

FOOTPRINTS OF THE EAGLE

A fleet of twelve American sea planes has completed a flight from San Diego, Cal., to Panama, making only eight stops on the way. The points where they landed, and the approximate distances between them are as follows: San Diego to Bartolome Bay, 370 miles; to Magdalena Bay, 290 miles; to Bandera Bay, 490 miles; to Acapulco, 410 miles; to Salina Cruz, 380 miles; to Fonseca Bay, 550 miles; to Punta Arenas, 320 miles; to Honda Bay, 340 miles; to Panama, 225 miles.

1—San Juan Del Sur, near which the NC-5 was reported adrift, is on the western Nicaraguan coast, near the boundary line between that country and Panama.

DANIELS WANTS POWER TO SEIZE FUEL FOR NAVY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Secretary Daniels has appealed to congress to repeal the war time law giving general requisitioning powers to the president, and to enact a special law permitting the commandeering of fuel for the army and navy.

In a letter to the house speaker and chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, the secretary sets forth that power to commandeer fuel for the navy had saved the government more than $10,000,000 since June 1, 1917.

Shah of Persia Leaves His Capital, Paris Hears

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] PARIS, Jan. 16.—According to a dispatch received tonight by the French foreign office, Sultan Ahmad Shah, ruler of Persia, quit the capital, Teheran, when the English garrison evacuated and proceeded to Shiraz.

Whether the sultan has abdicated is not known here. He is only 19 years old, and having become unpopular with his people because he permitted the establishment of the British protectorate, he feared assassination following the resignation of the Persian cabinet and the entry of the bolsheviks.

REVISE TREATY, ITALY DEMANDS; CABINET A UNIT

Must Not Force Germans and Turks to Terms.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—It has been unanimously decided by the Italian cabinet, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome, that in the coming supreme council in Paris it will be impossible for Italy to support any measure calculated to force Germany to fulfill in their entirety the obligations of the Versailles treaty or any measure to force Turkey to accept the present disposition as regards the near eastern situation.

Alternative in Austria.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—A loan of $250,000,000 in five annual installments would save the destitute government of Austria. But whether the allies decide on this or some other means of assistance, they must act soon or it will be too late.

Sir William Goode, chief of the British reparations commission, made this proposal and uttered the warning that goes with it in an interview with the United News on the desperate condition in which Austria finds herself after two years and more of peace.

Bolsheviks' Opportunity.

"If the allies can not offer Austria any means of existence, I fear we must prepare to witness a conflict in which the country will escape from whatever authority now remains," he said.

"The bolsheviks have made all preparations for using Vienna as a redistributing center for their propaganda, hoping that the campaign in that part of the world will cause the collapse of the government and permit them to extend their activities to all the countries of Europe.

"There are three distinct causes of Austria's plight: First is the disparity between her minimum essential needs and her home production; second, the deficit in her trade balance due to the necessity of buying most of her foodstuffs abroad, and, third, the disadvantage of Austrian money.

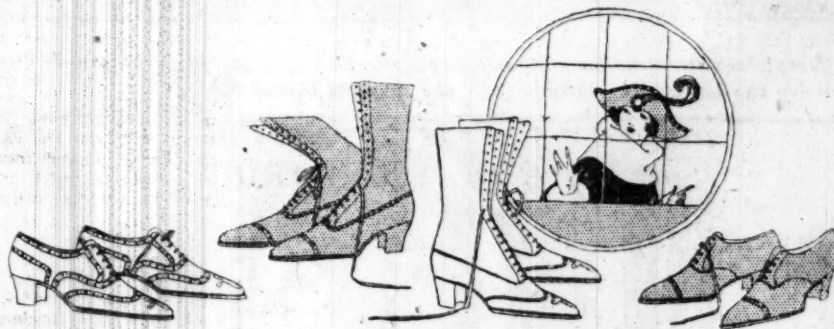

Provinces for Germany.

Austrian provinces might endeavor to join Germany; we might distribute the provinces among the neighboring states, giving a few contiguous ones to Germany. The third alternative would be a communist and bolshevik reign of terror."

Germans Again Reach for World Trade—from Spain

MADRID, Jan. 16.—Two important German business institutions have just been established in Spain. One of them is the German Bank of South America, which has branches in many cities in Brazil and Argentina and Mexico and has a capital of 3,000,000 pesetas. The other is the Spanish Electric Construction company, with a capital of 20,000,000 pesetas. It will undertake all kinds of electric construction and the electrification of railroads.

SHIPS OR SUBS? 'BOTH,' ANSWERS ADMIRAL SCHEER

Says Modern Navy Has Two Backbones.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright 1921 By The Chicago Tribune.)
WEIMAR, Jan. 16.—Superdreadnought or submarine? Battlecruiser or aircraft? Reliance on old ships of war or on new inventions? Which should be America's program for 1921 and the coming critical years in which four great naval powers will strive for the supremacy of the seas?

I put these questions to the man considered by many to be the greatest naval authority, Admiral Scheer, the commander of a nation's fleet which has fought with every weapon, but who remains a student.

He declared, as he entered his study, which is simply furnished but embellished with naval pictures, that he was loath to discuss questions in which his own country had no direct interest, but in view of the fact that this Chicago Tribune published his letter to the Kaiser on the battle of Skagerrak, he was willing to explain the most mooted points in the letter.

Ships or Submarines?
"I said in my letter," said the admiral, "that the heavy line ship remained the backbone of a navy. That was just after the Skagerrak action, when we bested a British fleet double the strength of ours. Since then a letter I stated that submarine development made it possible for a nation possessing enough of these weapons to withstand any of the world's four great navies."

"These statements are not as contradictory as they appear. From 1916 we waged a great submarine campaign from which we gained much knowledge. My final conclusion is that a fleet composed of capital ships only or of submarines only is not complete."

"Every fleet must be planned according to the geographical position of the country and the political objectives sought. Both types of weapons must be represented in proportions depending upon the country's needs."

Submarines Essential.
"The proposal to abandon capital shipbuilding in favor of submarines is false. Certainly there should be greater concentration on submarines. The new arm must be developed to the utmost, for the destruction of enemy trade affords a defense undreamed of heretofore."

"From what I have read of Mr. Harding's program, it is evident that capital ships will not be abandoned, which shows that the campaign against them has failed in America. But I do not hear much about an American submarine program on a big scale or the progress of construction and experimentation with that weapon."

"Although it is agreed that the policy of the life ship must be continued it seems to me that America is not paying enough attention to the extraordinary effectiveness of that new weapon."

Hypothetical Wars.
"Speaking hypothetically, in a war between America and Great Britain, or between America and Japan, an American submarine flotilla could raise havoc with British or Japanese communications endangering the lives of these nations, which live on imports."

"But it would take a great fleet of dreadnaughts and cruisers to safeguard the New York and San Francisco harbors from the British and Japanese."

'ARTIST'S BEST "TYPES" OF AMERICAN WOMEN

fleets and to protect American submarine bases from being blown up. "Each weapon has its uses, each nation has its own coast problems, and each must adopt an individual program, but if I were in the American naval service my advice, if asked, would be this answer:

"Do not listen to the clamor of persons technically ignorant. Do not throw aside the big ship in favor of the submarine or aircraft but build all three."

Land Warfare Unchanged.
"Land warfare changes but little. We used the same tactics against Russia as Roumania. Submarines have changed naval warfare, though they have not killed capital ships. The greatest lesson learned is that for nations fearing naval attack protection is guaranteed by submarines. Submarine owning nations are practically secure against invasion."

"Great Britain won the war but lost the mastery of the seas. This seeming paradox is the outcome of the Skagerrak battle. The mastery of the seas is now disputable by any second or third rate power having submarines, for these weapons can withstand whole navies."

"The world must realize this. The Skagerrak battle showed the course I pursued when my submarine screen caused the British navy to retire instead of fighting a decisive battle. Submarines have made big navies powerless offensively."

Divers as Peacemakers.
"I asked the admiral if he believed in the theory that terrible man killing inventions, such as tanks and gas, would end warfare."

"No," replied Scheer. "I cannot foresee a terror which will prevent men from fighting, but I do foresee the submarine as a means for maintaining peace. It will prevent wars, especially when nations possessing the greatest fleets will have to consider their impotency should their smaller adversary possess submarines sufficient to prevent naval and land operations."

"Once Britannia ruled the waves. Now Great Britain passes from offensive to defensive, from arrogance to doubt as to her own security. Would Great Britain, after the lessons learned in the war, think of engaging another nation possessing submarines?"

"In conclusion, my belief is that the submarine gives weak nations peace and equalizes the world's power considerably."

HARVARD'S PRICE LIST MAY GET RIDE SKYWARD

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 16.—An increase in tuition fees at Harvard university necessitated by a deficit of $161,000 during the year 1919-1920, "which will be more than doubled during the current year," is forecast by President A. Lawrence Lowell in his annual report to the board of overseers, made public tonight.

An increase in faculty salaries of roughly 50 per cent has been made possible by the Harvard endowment fund, the report said.

Alfonso Shows Himself a Bear with the Rifle

SAN LUCAR, Spain, Jan. 16.—King Alfonso, with Archduke Frederick of Austria, engaged today in a successful hunting expedition in the forests of this vicinity, bringing down numerous wildcats, wild boar, and deer. Altogether the two sportsmen accounted for seventy-six animals in the course of the day, of which King Alfonso shot more than half.

"Most Impressive"

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—There is no pure American type of woman; Americans are a polyglot of types, according to E. O. Hoppe, English artist-photographer.

"I believe there will be a distinctly American type within another, or perhaps two, generations," Hoppe says. "She will have brown hair—brown, with glints of bronze and copper in it—what you call chestnut brown. Her eyes will be hazel, merry eyes, with tints of some warm brown."

"Her complexion will be neither fair nor olive, yet a little of both, and it will carry its own crimson or high lights of health. Her figure will be almost boyish, lithe, willowy, athletic by reason of exercise in the great outdoors she so loves."

"I have found certain characteristics purely American. The most outstanding of these is the eyes. The American girl has the most beautiful eyes in the world. It is not so much the color of them as the expression. They are alive. The American girl looks you straight in the eye. You get a glimpse into the mirror of her soul."

Mr. Hoppe has selected Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, Mrs. William Aston Chanler, and Miss Millicent Rogers as three Americans who had made lasting impressions upon his artistic vision.

RECIPROCITY AS CORNERSTONE OF TARIFF GAINING

Senate and House Leaning Toward Principle.

BY GRAFTON S. WILCOX.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Reciprocity is being seriously considered by leading members of congress as the best underlying principle for the new tariff law.

Strong sentiment for a reciprocal tariff basis already has been shown by numerous witnesses appearing before the ways and means committee in the tariff hearings, and it is being advocated by senators and members of the house.

Representative Longworth of Ohio, a member of the ways and means committee, in a recent speech urged it strongly in arranging new tariff schedules. Senator Edge of New Jersey has made a similar plea, stating that prohibitive tariff rates at this time would be an invitation to other nations to retaliate.

Penrose Friendly to It.
Senator Penrose, chairman of the finance committee, which will have reviewing power over the house tariff bill, is known to be leaning toward reciprocal tariff concessions. He has said the new tariff law must be framed in accordance with new world conditions, and that the export business of the United States must be considered in connection with the establishment of duties for protection of the domestic market.

Opposing this view, however, is Representative Fordney of Michigan, chairman of the ways and means committee, who favors a tariff wall that will shut out foreign products. Mr. Fordney would rather sacrifice the money owed the United States by foreign powers than to have the debts paid through admission of imports which would injure American industries.

Within the last week two great industries were before the ways and means committee advocating reciprocal tariff provisions. They were automobile and lumber.

Canada Would Hit Back.
Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—"If Uncle Sam, without provocation, undertakes practically to embargo further importations from Canada, he must get ready for something like an embargo by Canada upon importations from the United States," today's Toronto World says, expressing surprise at tariff proposals at Washington.

The World approves of New York warnings, advising congress, "that in trying to cripple Canada, the United States is putting out of business her best customer."

It is hinted that Canada can and will buy from Great Britain many of the manufactured articles now bought from the United States if there is any embargo against Canada. It is thought in Ottawa that Sir Auckland Geddes, now on his way to London, will discuss with Lloyd George the proposed United States tariff on Canadian wheat. Meanwhile, with the wheat market confused and different schemes of disposing of the crop under consideration in the west, the situation is being watched closely by the government.

DRY CHIEF DASHES EAST; RUMORS OF BIG SHAKEUP FLY

Secrecy Marks Hurried Trip of Richardson.

Sweeping changes in the personnel of the federal prohibition enforcement officers may come as the result of a hurried trip to Washington yesterday by Frank D. Richardson, supervising prohibition agent of the central district.

Twenty special investigators from the office of Commissioner John S. Kramer in Washington have been conducting an inquiry into charges of graft in the local offices.

But no one in the local offices yesterday would talk about the charges or the possibility of a shakeup. Several denied that they knew Richardson had gone to Washington, but at the suite in a hotel it was said that he had departed hurriedly for Washington and New York.

New York Cases Recalled.

A week ago Richardson's agents arrested James Costello, an actor, and John F. Shea, a private detective, after it was learned that they had in their possession liquor removal permits which would enable them to move about $150,000 worth of liquor from local warehouses. The permits were signed Charles O'Connor, prohibition director for New York. The permits are said to have been stolen from the New York office by O'Connor's aids. Two women and a man were discharged from O'Connor's office. Costello and Shea were held on bonds by Commissioner Lewis F. Mason for further hearing. It was thought that Mr. Richardson on his present trip would confer with O'Connor in order that steps might be taken to stop forged permits which are said to be flooding Chicago.

Irregularities are said to exist in the office of Ralph W. Stone, Illinois prohibition director. Some time ago he started an investigation by asking for warrants for four Chicago physicians. Since then hundreds of physicians have been suspected of wilfully violating their prescription pledges.

Recently Mr. Richardson discharged six agents in Indiana and entered orders for transfers for nearly every agent in that district.

"Hip" Liquor Decision Expected.

A decision on "hip" liquor probably will be brought back from the office of the national prohibition commissioner. The decision has been expected for some time and without it the officials have been handicapped in raids. They have not been allowed to arrest drinkers of intoxicants in cafes and cabarets if they could show they had brought the liquor with them.

Illegal withdrawals of whisky from bond on permits from other states has caused the local office much trouble. A plan to change the ruling on withdrawal permits is being considered and Mr. Richardson may return with a new regulation regarding permits after his conference with Commissioner Kramer.

CHICAGO GREEKS PROTEST RETURN OF CONSTANTINE

Plan Convention to Aid Venizelos.

A protest against the occupancy of the Greek throne by King Constantine was yesterday offered by the members of the newly organized Hellenic Liberal Democratic League at a meeting in Down hall, Hull house.

More than 500 leading Greeks attended the meeting and pledged moral and financial support to Eleutherios Venizelos, the recent candidate for the Greek presidency.

Tired of Kings, President Says.

"Among the Greeks there has been a revolution of political sentiment," said President E. A. Condrax, "a revolution so pronounced that, aided and abetted by Great Britain and France, the early recall of Venizelos is inevitable. The Greeks are tired of kings."

and want a democracy like they find in America."

"America today is just like the golden age in Greece during the time of Pericles," said Attorney G. A. Kyriakopoulos, vice president of the organization. "Greece will be like America if we can put Venizelos at the head of the government."

Will Hold Convention.

It was decided at the meeting that a Greek convention be held in Chicago in the near future. Delegates from the different Liberal party organizations in the United States will be sent to this city, and an attempt will be made to devise ways and means to place Venizelos in office.

At the meeting a rising vote of thanks was tendered The Tribune for its fair and impartial news of the recent election in Greece.

MYSTERY VEILS MURDER OF MAN, 2 WOMEN, 2 BOYS

Police Baffled; Only Clew Pistol Held by Father.

Pamplico, S. C., Jan. 16.—Discovery today of two additional bodies disclosed that five members of the Bigham family, living near here, were shot to death yesterday. Bodies of three members of the family, one of the most prominent in this section of South Carolina, were found yesterday. Authorities here spent the whole day in an attempt to solve the mystery, but tonight said they had found no solution. They said they were working on the clew afforded by a revolver found in the hand of L. S. Bigham, 40, head of the family, and one of the victims.

Find Bodies Everywhere.

The body of Mrs. L. S. Bigham, 60, mother of the head of the family, was found in the yard of the Bigham home, a bullet wound in her head.

The body of Mrs. Marjorie Black, 35, was found in her room on the second floor of the Bigham home, also with a bullet hole in her head. The body of Mrs. Black's 9-year-old adopted son was found near the back of the house, his forehead having been pierced by a bullet fired at close range.

Another adopted son, 25, was found near a fence in the back yard with a bullet wound in his head. The 5-year-old boy was alive, but died early today.

Brother Says He Was Away.

The first of the bodies was found late yesterday by E. D. Bigham, brother of the dead man, who occupied a portion of the Bigham home, but who told the authorities that he was out driving at the time the tragedy occurred.

L. S. Bigham Sr., who died several years ago, served as a member of the South Carolina house of representatives and senate and at one time was a candidate for member of congress.

WOULD AID ALIEN THROUGH COURT OF IMMIGRATION

New York, Jan. 16.—Establishment of quasi-judicial immigration courts in which aliens would be guaranteed due process of law and proper constitutional safeguards today was proposed as one of a number of tentative cases for "seriously needed modification" in the handling of foreigners in the United States.

The commission on the church and social welfare of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America urged the reform.

Refusal to grant immunity for unlawful acts of investigation, and provision that no one should be convicted on evidence showing him to have been incited to wrongdoing by a provocative government agent, were among the reforms urged in the report.

A FIVE CENT FARE NOW.

When Ald. Anderson, Thompson's floor leader, pitched in at once to oppose the council resolution for a 5 cent fare on both surface and elevated lines his instinct was good but his judgment was poor. He had to be called off and the mayor had to seem willing if not delighted.

Ald. Anderson may have known that this resolution suited Mr. Thompson just about as much as a snowstorm suits a farmer in June. He is not out of cash for real city hall opinions, but the farmer can quite frankly say he doesn't want the snowstorm and Mr. Thompson cannot exactly say he doesn't want the 5 cent fare.

For reasons not wholly explicable the city hall does say that it does not want the elevated pre-empted into its plans. The reasons are as clear as mud, but Mr. Cleveland, for the traction commission, says that the mayor's scheme does not contemplate carrying the elevated roads and that the city administration will not have the I. wished on it.

We are not sure whether Mr. Thompson thinks the users of the elevated are aristocrats and not to be considered in a proletarian scheme or whether he thinks that an elevated ride is worth 10 cents, but there is no evidence nowadays that the administration wishes to be bothered by such extraneous considerations.

We can see why the council included the elevated in its resolution petitioning Gov. Small to ask his utilities commission to restore the old rates. The council may be simple minded, but it seems to be logical.

In the old days the elevated and the surface cars carried passengers for 5 cents. Then wages went up in both services, materials advanced, and everything for which people paid was lifted. In consideration of all these elements Lowden's utilities commission granted successive increases in fares until now the user of the elevated pays 10 cents and the user of the surface lines pays 5.

Mr. Thompson and Mr. Small said this was wrong, was unnecessary, and was unjust to the citizens. They both said that Lowden's commission had favored the corporations and virtually said that it had betrayed the people.

This presentation of the case did not separate the branches of service. When Lowden's commission was doing business the elevated fares were wrong just as the surface fares were wrong. The logical, even if simple minded, council goes from A to Z with directness of purpose.

Small now has the power which Lowden had. He has a public utility commission as Lowden had. His commission has the power Lowden's had. The argument is that if Lowden's commission did wrong then Small's commission can do right. If a 5 cent fare is right it can be had on both the surface lines and the elevated without waiting for the legislature to pass an enabling act, without waiting for the formation of a traction district with the approval of the people, without waiting for the election of trustees to administer the district and levy taxes.

If a 5 cent fare is wanted it can be had without waiting. The mayor's scheme will take time. It might not be ready before Mr. Thompson was ready to run again for mayor. He might have to vary the 5 cent fare as a battle cry into another election.

All this is unnecessary. Small and Thompson have the power this minute. The Small commission could determine next week that 5 cents is enough. The Small commission is hand free to do what it thinks right and what it thinks the facts will justify.

We heard enough of what the facts were when Thompson was running Small for office, and they have not changed for the worse since he was elected. If anything conditions have been returning slightly toward the status when 5 cents was car fare. The trend is downward and not upward.

Either the 5 cent fare is proper and should be put into effect at once or it is merely a false political issue which is about to expose itself.

AN ANTI-MURDER RECORD.

The annual report of the Chicago crime commission shows a decrease of 51 per cent in the number of murders in the city in 1920, compared with 1919. That is a record of which to be proud. It is also convincing evidence against the arguments of sentimentalists who have insisted repeatedly that the death penalty is no deterrent to murder.

The Tribune has been a consistent advocate of prompt and unyielding justice in dealing with criminals. As justice in the case of murder requires the execution of the murderer, we have fought for the death penalty as the only proper means of protection of society. This has been a fundamental part of the Tribune's tactics in its campaign against crime. Repeated illustrations of the miscarriage of justice due to sickly sentimentalism have been made public with arguments to prove their injustice to the living and their cumulative danger to society.

In this work of arousing public opinion and breaking down the false atmosphere of sentiment which has protected layers the crime commission has worked to the same end and upon the same theories as the Tribune. Facts, figures, and exhortation have been combined to bring the citizens of Chicago to realize the evil condition which threatened both life and property. The result of this campaign was a change of atmosphere which brought conviction after conviction in the criminal courts last summer. More than a dozen murderers were sentenced to be hanged. Three were executed in two days in November. The murderers were plainly frightened and even more plainly cautious. The result is shown in the crime commission's report—a decrease of 51 per cent in murders.

No opponent of drastic punishment can refute the argument of that record. It is a record which inspires a pledge that the good work will go on.

As Mr. Chamberlin of the commission says, in his report, there is no crime wave in Chicago. There is no emergency. Crime is an established going business. It has its risks. As these risks are increased the activity of the business is decreased. We purpose to see that the risks are increased, and kept constantly as a menace before the criminal. Public opinion has been aroused to a point where it is making itself very evident in arousing and maintaining risks against criminals. Chief Fitzmorris has shown both willingness and ability to do his part. State's Attorney Crowe's record is promising. Men prosecuted by him are already on their way to the gallows. The crime commission is unrelenting in its labors. With such united efforts this year's crime report will be even more comforting.

CUTTING DOWN THE ARMY.

The regular army performs one service for which there is no other instrument. It garisons the possessions of the United States. The size of the regular army is related to the needs of these garisons and must be determined by the needs and not by congressional ideas of economy.

Panama must be garisoned. So must Hawaii, the Philippines, and other possessions, and the garisons must be adequate. Congress cannot wisely say that the size of the army shall be 150,000 if that will not give enough men for the overseas posts and leave enough in the United States as a mobile body for emergencies which might arise along a border.

The army ought to be the nucleus of a force potentially available, one which could be expanded without confusion and uncertainty, with its experts and its material available. As a nucleus, it must be in the United States. The garisons can be relied upon as a mobile force. It might be impossible to withdraw troops from any or all of the possessions in time of emergency.

How does congress know that 150,000 men will be enough? It evidently doesn't know. It is not taking into consideration any of the factors temporary or stable in the American military needs. It decided upon a reduction merely because it is supposed to be a good time to practice some conspicuous economies and the army is a good thing to hit.

Some Democratic senators, who probably feel free to be sensible inasmuch as the responsibility for appropriations is no longer on their party, say that it is a very bad time to reduce the army. The United States and Japan proceed from one disturbing incident to another, and these incidents are incidents which frequently precede war. Bad feeling has been increased by the murder of an American naval officer by a Japanese sentry in Vladivostok. The Japanese say the soldier was ignorant. Americans say he wanted to shoot an American. The relations of the United States and Japan do not warrant blind confidence in the future.

Both the Panama and Hawaiian garisons must be considered with a view not only to their natural requirements but just now with a view to their requirements in our present relations with Japan. We do not know how many soldiers either place needs, but we do know that congress is not giving the needs consideration. Panama may need fifty thousand men. Hawaii may need fifty thousand men. The Philippines and Alaska need men, and it may be that 150,000 are needed outside of the United States.

The principal reliance of defense in Hawaii now is said to be the national guard, which has many Japanese in it. The nation would be mad to continue the defense of an essential outpost to such a force. That is one place where the regular army establishment must be sufficient, and it must be adequate. In view of the fact that it might become impossible to send replacements or reinforcements, Panama presents much the same need.

It would be a fool's economy which reduced the army below the strength necessary for the duties it must perform.

HARD BOILED PUGILISM.

After Pete Herman had knocked Jimmy Wilde for a row of flats it was said in London that Wilde was just as popular as ever, just as much of a pugilistic idol. He put up a fine fight. The English had a good evening of sport. Wilde was licked, but the English are for him just the same. He will fight many times again and they'll be for him.

Old Bat Levinsky was to have fought Bombardier Wells, but could not because he had injured himself in training. Wells, who would have been defeated, is just as popular in England as if he and the canvas were not so well acquainted. Beckett has taken two bad lickings, one from a Frenchman and the other from an American, and yet he is popular. The English are for him. They do not discard their champions.

When American champions are through, they are through. After they have gone to dreamland they go to the farm. They are permitted to try a come back, but the populace is derisive. Two minutes after Dempsey walked away from Willard in Toledo, Willard was dead. He now shows symptoms of coming to life, but a champ who has his crown knocked off his head might as well throw his head after it.

The American system is savage, but it also gets results. There is no sentiment in it. When a man falls he is gone. There was popular liking for Sullivan and Fitzsimmons after they were gone, but if they had persisted in fighting and getting licked the populace would have been derisive. The savage system produces the men. It is not so nice to contemplate and it certainly is not so friendly or what we call human as the English, but it is nature, and ain't nature wonderful?

It's the top dog who has the friends, not the licked one.

POLITENESS.

[Second Presbyterian Church Weekly.]

Whether we receive the $50 or not, it pays to be polite. The Tribune is doing a splendid piece of educational work in its uncovering of this gracious quality in most unexpected places. For politeness is not the prerogative of any social group. Christs and bores are to be found in the wealthy and educated circles as readily as among the poor and illiterate. Crabbled, irritable, inconsiderate men and women can be found in Evanston! It is a grace of the heart. It issues from kindness. Although etymologically akin to polish, it is not a superficial grace. It goes down into the deeper texture of the nature. It means thoughtfulness for the comfort of others. It is more than merely saying, "Yes, sir," or "Yes, ma'am," though that is something that many of our American children need to learn. It is the opposite extreme from surliness. It is pleasantness in action and speech. It can find its field of operation in the home, the store, the office, the church, the crowded street, the straphanging and uncomfortable public vehicle.

It is a great lubricant of life. Try it!

TO MARY GARDEN—WITH A POSTSCRIPT.
So wonderful was your art, if you preferred
Dramas to copy, you'd be all the mustard:
For you (fecund prosaemen have averred)
Have Sarah Bernhardt lapped up a custard.

So marvelous your voice, too, if you cared
With turns and trills and trill-las to dazzle,
You'd have enraptured critics have declared
All other singers beaten to a frazzle.

So eloquent your legs, were it your whim
To caper nimbly in a classic measure,
Terpsichore (entranced reviewers hymn)
Would swoon upon her lyre for very pleasure.

If there be aught you cannot do, 'twould seem
The world has yet that something to discover,
One has to hand it to you. You're a scream,
And 'tis a joy to watch you put it over.

Postscript.
If there be aught you can't survive,
The present tell will mean your crucifying:
But I am laying odds of eight to five
That you'll come thro' with all your colors flying.

"IN our tongue," writes Ford Madox Hueffer, "you can criticize a fatted calf; a barren sow; a field of turnips, and—at any rate very nearly—the strategy of the Duke of Marlborough. But not Pure Literature, Absolute Music, or the Plastic Arts considered in the abstract. There are no words."

THERE are no words, we might add, to characterize the treatment of Maj. Gen. Sanborn. Words will serve to set forth his character and his military record, to echo the true saying about the ingratitude of republics, to express a surprise that public indignation is so slow to kindle in cases of this kind. But the persons who have prepared the indignity, the sort of person who is capable of offering it . . . No; there are no words. At least none that the most obliging postmaster-general would pass.

BOOKFELLOWS.

THE dissolution of Farmer Pierson, of Princeton, Ill., from rough-on-rats administered, it is charged, by his wife and her gentleman friend, is a murder case that reminds us of New England, where that variety of triangle reaches stages of gruesomeness surpassed only by "The Love of Three Kings." How often, in our delirious reporter days, did we journey to some remote village in Vermont or New Hampshire, to inquire into the passing of an honest agriculturist whose wife, assisted by the hired man, had speeded his blazets with arsenic or strychnine.

DAY DREAM.

I'd like to pack and go away.
Afar, out fair-Samoa way.
The refuge of the weary and depressed;
Samoa, where the even sun
Of Robert Louis Stevenson
Sank gently, prematurely, to its rest.

Then should some kind Samson soul
Approach me with a frowny bow,
I'd sit me down beneath the waving trees;
And then and there I'd have a bit
A swig or so of kava, it
Is said to be the hootch of southern seas.

Bowl after bowl they'd bring to me,
And dusky maids would bring to me,
With gestures of the torso and the limbs:
The songs they say are topical,
With phrases rather tropical;
But honi soi—I'm surfeited with hymns.

And there I'd lie s-l-a-m reckoning
Of time, the jungle beckoning,
The breadfruit and banana for my fare,
Forgotten quite this dry abyss,
Until elephantiasis or
Or beriberi caught me unaware.

STONE PHIZ.

NOTHING, probably, is more potent to a 32 Prohibitionist than the absolute villainy of whisky. You might lead him to grasp the self-evident fact that a tree falling in a solitude makes no sound, but you could never persuade him that a cask of whisky is not a cask of iniquity, though it remain unbreached forever. Mr. Santayana has met people of that mind, and he refers to them in his "Winds of Doctrine."

"FOR the human system," he writes, "whisky is truly more intoxicating than coffee, and the contrary opinion would be an error; but what a strange way of indicating this real, though relative, distinction, to insist that whisky is more intoxicating in itself, without reference to any animal, that it is per se, as it were, by an inherent intoxication, and stands dead drunk in its bottle."

ABOUT SMALLPOX.

SEVERAL years ago this column predicted an outbreak of smallpox at Niagara Falls during the following winter. The epidemic arrived on schedule time and the state board of health found it necessary to step in, take charge of Niagara Falls and vaccinate practically the entire town. During the last year when smallpox was raging in southern Ontario, Niagara Falls, relatively secure against the disease yet surrounded by infected communities, must have been grateful to this column for the service rendered them several years ago.

For months we have repeatedly carried articles on smallpox because it was evident that the disease was to be unusually prevalent this winter. Since the smallpox season holds on until July 1 there remains considerable time to repeat these warnings.

Many letters are being received asking us also the efficacy of vaccination. The charges of inefficiency made by the various healing cults lined up in the anti-vaccination societies apparently are getting more of a hearing than any of their other wild and woolly statements.

To begin with let us understand that one successful vaccination does not guarantee lifelong immunity to smallpox. The vaccine is a virus which makes one immune for life, but no one is justified in assuming that he belongs in that group.

Research indicates that the danger of smallpox becomes fairly considerable five years after successful vaccination. However, in health department practice it is assumed that one is fairly safe for seven years after successful vaccination. When the vaccination is unsuccessful, there being no vesicle or ulcer due to pus cocci, the so-called vaccination comes to naught.

They have just gone through an epidemic at Glasgow, among those good, hard-headed old Scotch people who need to get bumped occasionally in order to learn a thing or two. They cared for 47 people with smallpox in their hospitals.

Of these 128 were children under 15, of whom ninety-eight were unvaccinated and thirty were vaccinated in infancy. Of the thirty vaccinated in infancy none died. Of the 128 ever vaccinated the following were vaccinated in infancy: 47, 36 per cent, died. Of the entire 477, 364 were vaccinated in infancy, and of them, fifty-four, or 15 per cent, died. Of the 477, 47 were vaccinated in infancy, and of them, 47, or 100 per cent, died. Of the 47, 47 were vaccinated in infancy, and of them, 47, or 100 per cent, died.

It is impossible to calculate the profit from a sale without making some assumption as to the value of the article sold. Moreover, what the man pays for the horse in the first place? That would have to be taken into consideration.

TO PUT IMMIGRANTS ON THE FARMS.
Chicago, Jan. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your issue of this morning appears an editorial entitled, "Shut Off Immigration." I wonder if you will permit me to disagree to some small extent with the conclusions of Mr. Frederick A. Wallis, commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, in his address to the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

The immigration problem in this country is one that cannot be settled offhand by any individual or group of individuals. But in our history we needed such a population, today that need is not so apparent. When the transportation facilities between Europe and the United States were meager and difficult, that need was automatically as a by-product of an advantage. With our own products suffering more or less from a release from abnormal conditions of the last five years, we are in a situation that I regard as little less than perilous, and one that needs immediate attention if we are to escape being made the dumping ground for the most undesirable class of immigrants.

A close study of the immigration distribution of the last twenty-five years has indicated quite clearly the necessity for getting the right kind of emigrant out of the cities and into the agricultural districts. I believe a perfectly practical remedy is restriction by closing the Atlantic ports to all immigration under notice and leaving open New Orleans, Galveston, the Pacific coast, and the Panama canal, and entry from the north through Canada to points west of St. Paul.

The Farmers' Film corporation is deeply interested in immigration in so far as it affects the agricultural situation in the country. With the farmer paying anywhere from $1 to $7 a day for ordinary farm labor, his production problem takes on a very serious character. It needs a supply of competent labor. Apparently, "Back to the Farm" movement has not been productive of results. The northwestern, and southwestern farming districts get an infinitesimal portion of the immigration entering through the Atlantic ports. The great cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, seem to act as catch basins and fully 75 per cent or 80 per cent of all the immigration entering the United States in the fiscal year ended June, 1914, remained in those cities.

The pastoral peoples of Europe can be diverted to the land, but this distribution must take place and be made effective before the emigrant gets upon the ship. The simple plan, it would seem to me, is to place control of immigration in the hands of a nonpartisan committee composed of one representative from each state, which shall have power to close the Atlantic ports to immigration and to see that Europe is bulletproof with respect to immigration. This plan would provide that an analysis of the labor requirements of the more sparsely settled portions of the country where labor is needed should be made, these colonies, and the result made public in those countries where emigrants are now waiting.

GEOGRAPHY ANSWERS.

1. What divides Australia approximately in halves? The Tropic of Capricorn.

2. In proportion to its area how does the coast line of Asia compare to that of Europe? Asia has only about one-third as long a coast line as Europe in proportion to its area.

3. How much of Africa is within the tropics? About two-thirds.

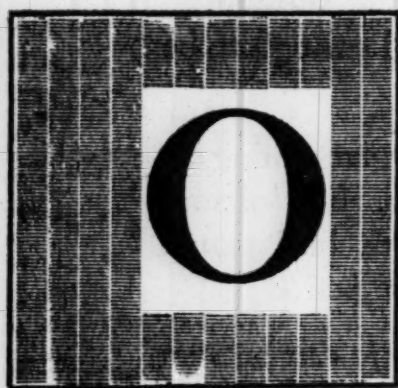

4. Which country has the most regular coast? Africa.

5. How does the shore line of Europe compare to that of Africa, in proportion to its area? Europe, the most highly indented, has more than six times as much shore line as Africa, in proportion to its area.

6. What is Africa commonly called? "The Dark Continent."

7. What is the smallest continent, except Australia? Europe.

Henrici's to Occupy All Six Floors of the Henrici Building

OPTIMISM as to the business situation is now neither a virtue nor a pose—it's just common sense. The "public" has not quit buying—it cannot quit—it has only ceased to squander. People are ready to exchange, and are exchanging, money at right values. Every sign on the road toward normal conditions indicates that business is rapidly approaching a turn from which the desired objective, good old-fashioned prosperity, will be in plain view.

As for our own business, which is the most fundamental of all retail trade—the supplying of food—conditions have never been so favorable.

Henrici's in 1920 was patronized by a far greater number of people than ever before in its history, and so far in 1921 there is every reason to believe this year will break the 1920 record by a wide margin. During every month in the past seventeen years in this location, through fat years and lean, even when scrip was passing for currency, a greater number of people have patronized Henrici's than entered the doors in the same month of each preceding year.

Two years ago Henrici's altered a custom which had been adhered to for fifty years.

Up to that time the restaurant had closed every night at 8 o'clock, but upon the oft-repeated request of patrons it was decided to continue service, in the main part of the restaurant, until midnight.

This was no light matter. It involved, among other considerations, the maintenance of an additional large staff of employees, regardless of the number of patrons served.

The policy which has always characterized Henrici's—that of providing, at honest, undisguised values, plain, substantial food, as distinguished from such dishes as are distinctly in the luxury class—had brought trade crowding through Henrici's doors at breakfast, luncheon and evening dinner time.

Such a policy was a sufficient magnet to draw late hour patronage in unprecedented volume. This without lure of orchestra or other entertainment. In fact, Henrici's has consistently advertised, for years, the absence of such attractions.

And now, as the result of a situation forced by constantly increasing patronage, two more steps are to be taken in the development of the business.

Commencing tonight, the large East Room also will remain open until 12 o'clock every night. Thus the full seating capacity of the restaurant will be in service every day from 7 a. m. to midnight.

Meanwhile plans are in preparation to devote the entire Henrici building to this one business. Early in the coming spring all six floors will be remodeled to conform to our requirements in the matter of caring for trade which is today more rapidly than ever overtaking our best efforts to provide for it.

Possibly our patrons will be interested to know that under our present arrangement the space devoted to the cooking, baking, storage and other behind-the-scenes departments is three times greater than the total table space. While our plans for this year include a great increase in table space, the ratio between the two kinds of space will be even more largely in favor of the working space—which in turn means still better service to the patron.

The year 1921 should be a year marked by progress for every merchant and manufacturer who has faith in himself and in his business and in the people, and who is willing to conform to the viewpoint of the great mass of the public. The public now rightly insists that every dollar expended shall purchase a dollar's value.

Those farseeing concerns which wisely refrained from taking advantage of recent opportunities for unduly great profit are as a whole least inconvenienced by the phase of depression from which industry is now emerging, and with poetic justice such concerns will undoubtedly be the first to feel the new prosperity.

PASTOR CALLS FORD WAR ON JEW 'MORAL RELAPSE'

Henry Ford was attacked for his anti-Semitic campaign in a sermon preached yesterday by the Rev. Hugh Robert Orr in the All Souls Unitarian church of Evanston.

Mr. Ford has been publishing books containing reprints of anti-Semitic articles from his weekly newspaper. Mr. Orr received one and acknowledged it—with his sermon.

"It is quite a moral relapse—this step from the ill-fated peace ship to the deliberate and well planned attempt to stir up racial prejudices between American citizens," the pastor declared.

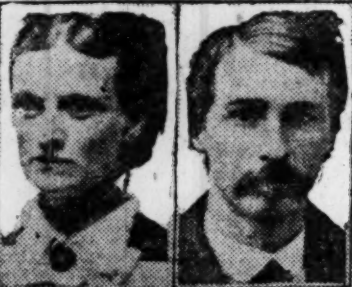

"Professing that knowledge of history is unessential to a broadminded life, Mr. Ford has fallen into a trap.

Jews Oppose Bolshevism.
"Mr. Ford would make us believe that the Jews are at the bottom of the trouble in Russia. He does not know, apparently, that the Jews are almost solid against bolshevism and that the Zionist party, constituting 70 per cent of the Jewish population, is under the bolshevist ban. He does not know, it seems, that 107 of its leaders are in a Moscow prison.

"The manufacturer openly voices a suspicion of Jewish loyalty and patriotism in the United States. This is a rather hard thing for him to say when 225,000 Jewish lads offered their lives to protect Mr. Ford's business and his home.

World Owes Jews a Debt.
"The world owes a debt to the Jewish race greater than any war debt. It cannot be measured by any science, and countless millenniums will not erase it. The Jew is with us today and that is what small minded people do not like, and Henry Ford is one of them."

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Russell, 1921.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Russell of 2836 Walnut street, Chicago pioneers, twice presented with gold medals by the Old Settlers' association of Cook county for representing the oldest married couple in that organization, were married fifty-nine years ago last Saturday. To celebrate the anniversary they held a family reunion and informal reception. Mr. Russell is 82 years old and his wife 79. They were married in Chicago. Mr. Russell once was active in politics, and served as deputy sheriff. Their two sons, Oliver F. and John I. Russell, both of Chicago.

LATIN AMERICA HONORS MEMORY OF GEN. GORGAS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Representatives from many nations gathered tonight in the hall of the Pan-American union to pay tribute to the late Maj. Gen. William C. Gorgas, former surgeon general of the United States army. Diplomats, prominent army and navy officers, members of congress, and other officials attended the exercises, held under the auspices of the Southern society of Washington, of which Gen. Gorgas was once president.

The ambassador of France; Maj. Gen. H. K. Bethell, military attaché of the British embassy; the ambassador of Peru; the ministers of Cuba and Ecuador; the chargé d'affaires of Panama; the secretaries of war and navy; Dr. L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American union; Maj. Gen. Peter C. Harris, and Dr. Clarence J. Owens, past president of the Southern society, were the speakers.

Congress will be asked to make appropriation for a suitable memorial.

PAN-AMERICAN NATIONS FORM PRIVATE LEAGUE

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Jan. 16.—Decision to sign a convention creating a federation of Central American republics has been reached by the Central American Union congress, in session here. This step, which seemed almost impossible because of opposition to article 40, the most bitterly debated section of the proposed treaty, followed an agreement by all the delegations.

Article 40 stipulates that each member nation of the federation will continue loyally to comply with the terms of treaties with foreign governments, but that if extensions to those treaties should imply new demarcations of territory, a new Central American Union conference will be called to consider the changes proposed.

The Bryan-Chamorro treaty between the United States and Nicaragua was one of the principal points at issue. It was decided it did not infringe on the rights of other Central American nations.

Have You Forgotten How to Sell?

Many manufacturers will judge their 1921 possibilities by the average of the general trade or market.

But there never was a time when an individual or a company could not by sledge-hammer salesmanship coupled with sound advertising rise above competition and do a better than general-average business. Dealers will buy when they see or sense a market, and nothing will re-assure them now like a demonstration of adequate advertising.

Our 17 years' experience in advertising and in merchandising connected with trade-marked products equips us to render help to manufacturer: out of all proportion to the cost of our services.

MARTIN & MARTIN SHOES AT LESS THAN PRE-WAR PRICES

We place on sale today our entire stock of shoes and hosiery for men, women and children at 20% TO 40% OFF

These discounts are in addition to important reductions heretofore made on many of our lines, in the normal process of readjustment to pre-war figures.

The values are extraordinary in every way, as Martin & Martin shoes never have advanced in price proportionately with other shoes. Throughout the period of war prices they have remained, as always, the best values to be obtained anywhere at any price. At present prices they represent values which will not be duplicated for a long time.

ANTI-SEMITIC
DRAWS PRO OF U.S. LE

Washington, Vt. Jan. 16.—An anti-Semitic protest meeting was held here tonight. The speaker was William O'Connell, a prominent Bostonian. He exhorted the audience to "consider the rights of the Jewish race." He said, "the publication of books, pamphlets, and articles designed to stir up racial prejudices between American and Jew is a crime." He said, "the publication of books, pamphlets, and articles designed to stir up racial prejudices between American and Jew is a crime." He said, "the publication of books, pamphlets, and articles designed to stir up racial prejudices between American and Jew is a crime."

President Wilson's refusal to sign the Bryan-Chamorro treaty was a great blow to the anti-Semitic cause. He said, "the publication of books, pamphlets, and articles designed to stir up racial prejudices between American and Jew is a crime."

"I have your letter of sympathy against the anti-Semitic cause. I beg that you come to the signature." President Eliot Harding said, "the publication of books, pamphlets, and articles designed to stir up racial prejudices between American and Jew is a crime."

"I am sure you can help at the present time by the avoidance of unkind remarks relating to any of the Jewish race."

ANTI-SEMITISM DRAWS PROTEST OF U. S. LEADERS

Washington, Jan. 16.—A protest against anti-Semitic propaganda in the United States, bearing the names of President Wilson, William H. Taft, Woodrow Wilson, and 116 other wide-awake men and women of Christian faith, was made public here tonight by a group of Chicago socialists.

The protest was particularly those who are considered of public opinion—the editors, publishers, teachers, editors, and students—to strike at this un-American and un-Christian agitation. "We regret exceedingly," the protest said, "the publication of a number of books, pamphlets and newspaper articles designed to foster distrust and suspicion of our fellow citizens of Jewish ancestry and faith."

President Wilson's Letter.

Mr. Spargo's request for his appointment of the protest, President Wilson's letter of Dec. 22, and an hearty in sympathy with the protest against the anti-Semitic movement.

I beg that you will add my name to the signatures." President Elect Harding, in a letter to the public by Mr. Spargo, declared his approval of anti-Semitism, but expressed a desire to avoid creating a precedent by signing the protest.

"I am sure you can understand at the present time, I am seeking the avoidance of undue publicity and the making of public state-ments relating to any of our pending business."

NAVY WON'T SHUT GREAT LAKES, BRITTEN SAYS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Representative Britten of Chicago tonight said he was certain the Great Lakes Naval Training station will not be abandoned next year, even though economies in naval administration may be necessary.

"When I heard of the unfortunate condition of the finances at Great Lakes," Mr. Britten said, "and the probable discharge of all civilian employees, including the fire fighting force, I immediately communicated with members of the committee on appropriations who will take up the deficiency appropriation bill on Tuesday and obtained from them a promise that $100,000 or more would be included in this bill for Great Lakes."

"I then communicated with the secretary of the navy, through Rear Admiral Thomas Washington, chief of the bureau of navigation, under whose bureau all naval training stations are operated, with the result that a telegram was directed to Capt. Wurtzbaugh, commandant at Great Lakes, authorizing him to anticipate relief from congress in the near future, pending which time he may continue the services of civilian employees, and if necessary pay their wages out of his coal funds."

"The stations at Newport, Hampton Roads and San Francisco are in the same deplorable condition. If the will of the theoretical economists on the committee prevails, the Newport station will be closed during the coming fiscal year and other stations will be materially curtailed, but I have made certain that Great Lakes will continue as the principal training station, and that its various trade schools shall not be interfered with. All men reemployed in the central states will continue to train at Great Lakes, where the largest schools for aviation mechanics and radio will operate to capacity."

Engineer Tells of Cut in Cost of Airplane Operation

John Hayford, dean of the school of engineering of Northwestern university, discussed the recent rapid strides in aeronautics before the current events class in the First Congregational church, Evanston, yesterday. He said that two years ago the cost of transporting freight by railroad as compared to that by airplane was as 1 to 2,000, and that now the ratio is 1 to 200. He asserted that in making coast surveys it has been found an airplane can do the work 600 per cent faster than the old method.

BLACK EYES ADD COLOR TO ITALY'S RADICAL MEET

Reds, Whites, and Pinks Can't Agree at All.

LEIGHORN, Italy, Jan. 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—The faction between the Socialists and the Communists—enlivened by a few fist fights—continued today at the session of the Italian Socialist congress. Deputy Miano, one of the leaders of the Communists, said:

"There is but one fight, that of revolution and the dictatorship of the proletariat. The Red armies must go forward to new conquests. They must take possession of the government, seize factories and make arms and munitions. Discipline the proletariat for the offensive."

"Behold glorious Russia!" "Behold the glorious work in soviet Russia while capitalism in the whole of western Europe has been organizing their White armies, while Japan has been building armies and navies for the control of Asia and the United States is increasing its naval power, all heading toward war!"

"While capitalism is massing its forces for a war to control the world markets in an endeavor to throw the world into a new imperialistic encounter, the Russian Red armies are not standing still. They advance from offensive to offensive. We of the Italian Communist party are ready to join with them in their conflict against international imperialism and the capitalist class."

"Fist Fights Add Color." "Let us reply to Moscow," said Prof. Barotoni, leader of the moderates, "that we see our own situation better through our own eyes; that we are for a greater unity than Moscow. Moscow calls traitors men who are pioneers in the construction of the revolution. Revolution does not mean revolt. It was not in the mind of Marx that this should be a revolution by revolt."

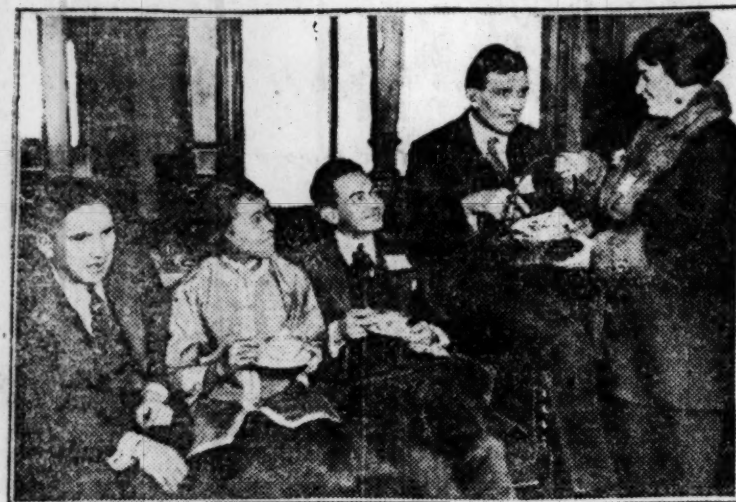

Tumultuous scenes similar to those enacted Saturday took place today. The fist fights recurred throughout the session and the members of the left hurled insults at those of the right.

Carpenters Ask Harding to Honor Their Chief

A resolution recommending the appointment of William L. Hutcheson, grand president of the Carpenters' Union of America, for the position of secretary of labor was passed and sent to President Elect Harding at a meeting of the Carpenters' District Council of Chicago. The resolution was offered by W. G. Schardt and H. A. Pollman, president and secretary of local 1. William Brims, president of the district council, and Daniel Galvin, secretary, gave their personal endorsement to the resolution.

ELIAS BENEDICT, DEAN OF RAIL OFFICIALS, DIES

Elias U. Benedict, said to be oldest railroad employe in the United States, will be buried tomorrow at Aurora, Ill., his old home. He died Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Jett, 318 Buena avenue. He was 96 years old. In 1857 he became a woodworker in the shops of a little railroad that ran from Detroit to Ypsilanti, Mich. ELIAS U. BENEDICT, it later became the Michigan Central. Mr. Benedict was almost a nationally known figure in railroad circles in the early days of railroading because of his daring and spectacular methods of pushing the business of the little lines in northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

When 85 years old he was made a traveling inspector of passenger cars, and for ten years traveled over 150,000 miles on the Great Lakes lines.

Pastor's Coolness Saves Lives in Church Fire

Cleveland, O., Jan. 16.—Scores of men and women, their escape cut off by flames and dense smoke, leaped from second story windows when fire threatened the lives of 600 people attending services in the Cory Methodist Episcopal church this morning. Due to the coolness of the pastor, the Rev. J. B. Redmond, and the prompt action of firemen installing nets, the list of injured was confined to four victims, none seriously hurt.

THE BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER. Incorporated to care for wounded sailors, soldiers, and marines, the Hospital Service circle, an organization of women, does most of its work in the Marine, Draxel, and Oak Forest hospitals. The circle supplies from two to six evening concerts to service men at the hospitals, always serving home-made refreshments. Members who drive their own cars are free to take the men on motor rides whenever they are permitted to go. One hundred and fifty packages were supplied to the men at Marine hospital on Christmas day, and last, but not least, writes the correspondent of the circle, Mrs. W. E. Buehler of Hubbard Woods, the men of Ward D, have been supplied with Tins of Tins every morning for more than a year. On Tuesday evening the Hospital Service circle will give a card party, bazaar, and dance at the Stock Yards Inn, from 8 o'clock until midnight. The proceeds to be used in the work of caring for wounded ex-service men in Chicago hospitals.

The benefit performances for the Near East relief given by the Broadway players at Warrington Opera house, Oak Park, Friday night, netted more than $400. Every seat was sold and a committee of young society women sold candy, adding $100 to the fund. Mrs. Louis Yager was in charge of the arrangements. Mrs. Archibald Freer, chairman of the Chicago women's committee, Mrs. Marion Hill, secretary, and the Rev. William E. Barton of the First Congregational church spoke of the needs of the thousands of Armenian orphans and refugees. Half of the evening's proceeds were given to the fund by Miss Diana De Shea, manager of the playing company.

C. G. Dixon, 1721 Austin avenue, the civil war veteran who is sharing his pension with the starving children of Europe, writes that he is not entitled to credit for $20—it was only half that much.

GROCER HELD UP; LOSSES $300. Two men entered Charles Lehman's grocery at 1201 West Jackson boulevard and held him up, escaping with $300. Lehman said the robbers were men who live in the neighborhood. They are being sought.

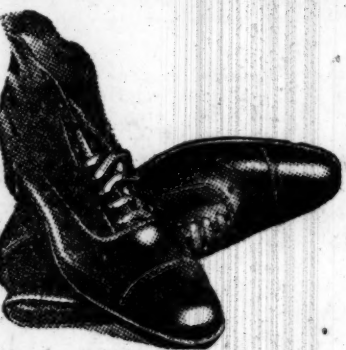

AT U. OF C.

Foreign students at the University of Chicago were entertained yesterday in Ida Noyes hall by the Young Women's Christian association chapter at the school. Miss Alice Wood was one of the hostesses. Among those who addressed the students on the latest political and industrial developments in their own countries was E. N. Armstrong, a missionary who for many years has been stationed in the far and near east. He is home on a furlough from his station at Burmah, India.

Better for colds than camphorated oil

Send for free 20 treatment tin

For years and years doctors have prescribed camphorated oil for children's colds, and certainly it is great stuff—but messy; hard to administer.

Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly has all the soothing and healing qualities of camphorated oil, and better yet, it is antiseptic, keeps fresh and is handy to apply.

Get a tube of Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly today and keep it always on hand. When the youngster comes in with wet feet, or all chilled, or begins to show signs of nose cold, apply a little Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly at once, and again at bed time. The child will breathe better, sleep better, and will usually shake the cold in a few hours.

Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly has been clearing heads and breaking up colds for young folks and old for thirty years, and is a valued household remedy in thousands of American homes.

Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly is guaranteed not only by us, but by 30 years service to millions of Americans. If Kondon's doesn't do wonders for your cold, sneezing, cough, chronic catarrh, nose-bleed, headache, sore nose, etc.—we'll pay your money back. On sale at all drug stores.

Avoid substitutes—make sure this signature is on the package you buy.

2,000 EMPLOYEES OF PULLMAN CO. TO WORK 9 HOURS

Longer Day Order Put Up to U. S. Labor Board.

Beginning today, 2,000 men in the operating departments of the Pullman company will be required to work nine hours a day. The employees at a mass meeting held Saturday night agreed to work the extra hour, under protest.

John De Young, secretary-treasurer of the Calumet Joint Labor council, said about the action at the meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor in the hall, 175 West Washington street, yesterday.

"Information has been received," Mr. De Young said, "that the same order is effective in Pullman shops in Buffalo and Wilmington, Del."

May Affect 16,000.
The employees here agreed to work under the new plan pending a decision on the matter from the Railway Labor board which already has our case under consideration. If the employees went out of strike the board would refuse to consider further the claims of the workers.

"If the new schedule of working hours is put into effect in all Pullman shops, about 16,000 employees will have to work the extra hour."

Petitions advocating the use of free textbooks in public schools were distributed to the delegates by W. H. Allen of the free text book committee. "We need 45,000 signatures on the petition before Jan. 25 to have the question placed on the ballot," he said.

Referendum on Teamsters' Row.
A report on the controversy between the Chicago Teamsters' association and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs over jurisdictional rights in South Chicago was announced.

In a referendum on the question as to which labor body the South Chicago teamsters wanted to give allegiance, 400 men voted. The majority favored remaining under the jurisdiction of the International.

John Astoroff, a delegate from the local Pullman union, accused the committee appointed by the Chicago Federation on cooperative systems of not conducting proper supervision over a cooperative company in which a number of unions had funds invested. He referred to stores at Blue Island and De Kalb.

Benefit to Aid
Ellis Island Immigrants
A benefit performance to raise funds to aid to the comfort of immigrants arriving at Ellis Island will be given under auspices of the Hebrew Shelter and Immigrant Aid society at the Lyric theater, Argyle and Kenmore avenues, on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 2. The use of the theater was obtained by workers of the North Shore auxiliary of the Marks Nathan Jewish Synagogue Home. Stars appearing at previous loop playhouses have offered their services.

LABOR CONGRESS TO FIGHT FOES OF UNIONS CALLED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—Representatives of the 109 national and international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have been called to meet in Washington Feb. 23 "for the purpose of considering attacks now being made on the trade union movement," according to an announcement today by Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation. The call for the meeting was sent out by Samuel Gompers, federation president.

Secretary Morrison, who embodied his announcement in a formal statement, said that the forthcoming conference "is one of several similar gatherings that have been called by the American Federation of Labor during its history to consider unusual conditions."

$200,000 ART AND GIRL THIEF HUNTED HERE

International Ring Loots Millionaire's Home.

Somewhere in Chicago, the police believe, there are two stolen masterpieces of painting, valued at $200,000. They have just completed a remarkable journey of 850 miles from Montreal, during which customs inspectors, private detectives, and railroad agents were outwitted through the ingenuity of a woman.

Once the paintings hung in European art galleries. Some years ago they were purchased by A. Crathern McArthur, a Montreal millionaire. He died recently. His widow, wishing to live in smaller apartments, advertised the contents of the mansion for sale.

The thieves, who the police say are art connoisseurs and keep an international card catalogue of all works of art, selected a woman confederate to reconnoiter Mrs. McArthur's home before the robbery. She visited there one evening while Mrs. McArthur was away.

Glanced Casually at Paintings.
Young and pretty, she was dressed in taste and impressed the maid who received her as a woman of culture. She asked to inspect the furniture. The masterpieces—'Landscape and Figures' by Monticelli, valued at $150,000, and 'Interior of a Stable' by Neuhay, valued at $50,000—were in the library. She glanced at them casually, but did not price them, the maid said.

She remained in the house about twenty minutes. She hesitated as though she were going to speak at the door. But she passed out and the maid thought no more of the visit until the next day, when the paintings were missed. They were in massive frames, and these were removed with the pictures. The police believe the woman confederate sprang the catch in the spring lock of the front door, which enabled the actual thief to enter.

The pictures were insured with the Fidelity and Casualty company of New York. After Mrs. McArthur had notified the Montreal police, the company was notified. Private detectives were retained, police of all cities were alerted, and a rigorous watch was maintained on all railroad lines leading out of Canada into the United States. No arrests were made, however.

Two days ago, information from a source which the police refuse to disclose, reached the Montreal authorities that the thieves, cleverly disguised, had come direct to Chicago via Toronto over the Grand Trunk railroad. It is a 422 hour ride.

Paintings Beneath Clothing?
The theory is that the frames were taken deliberately with a view to confusing the police by having them look for bulky parcels; that they were removed and destroyed later and that the canvases were worn into the United States under the clothing either of the woman or one of the male members of the band.

L. T. Burke, Chicago representative of the Fidelity Casualty company, last night asked the police to search for the pictures and also retained private detectives.

ST. JOHN TUCKER BY 'REFERENDUM' DUCKS A DEBATE
The "soap box debates" that have featured recent Sundays in Racine, Wis., were interrupted yesterday when St. John Tucker, Socialist and radical leader, refused in effect to debate with Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle, Wash., on the question "Resolved, that the Socialist government is superior to any form of government now extant in the United States."

The meeting was packed with Socialists and radicals. Mr. Hanson had been selected to debate with Tucker by the Constitutional Defense League of Racine. There was considerable argument about the choice of a subject. Tucker proposed the one accepted and then refused to take part. Mr. Hanson protested and Tucker turned to the audience.

"I'll leave it up to you people whether I shall debate with Mr. Hanson," he said. The audience, according to Tucker, remained him and the debate was cancelled.

"These Socialists always refuse to face plain facts," was Mr. Hanson's comment.

MAN, CLAD ONLY IN UNDERWEAR, SLAIN
An unidentified Italian, about 35 years old and wearing only a union suit, was shot and killed yesterday morning by three men at an alley in Vernon Park place, between Miller and Noble streets. The murderers escaped.

According to several witnesses, the recently dressed man had walked to the alley from a short conversation with three men. Suddenly they turned and fired at him three times. One shot taking effect back of the left ear. He fell dead.

In the pocket of the overcoat was found a gold watch and chain with a $10 gold piece as a charm. The overcoat bore a tag with the name "Fred Zeatner, County Jail," on it. Zeatner is a guard at the jail and is being sought to attempt identification of the body.

Men Who Found Purse Also Finds the Owner
H. H. Schwartz of 1035 Diversey Parkway, who the world to know he is an afflicted New Year's day discovered a woman's leather purse upon the pavement and paced North avenue in search of the owner. He contacted his wife to THE TRIBUNE. The story was read by Miss Margaret Lynch, 1850 North State parkway, and now she has her purse again.

Nobody Lonesome

Scores of University of Chicago coeds from other cities are taking advantage of the hospitality offered weekly by the university chapter of the Young Women's Christian association in Ida Noyes hall. The social committee of the Y. W. C. A. arranges numerous entertainments and weekly lectures and talks for girls who are unacquainted in the city, and would otherwise spend a lonesome day.

SHERIFF, SHOT BY FELLOW WHISKY GUARD, IS DEAD

John Holahan, 52 years old, 950 West Marquette road, a deputy sheriff, died at St. Luke's hospital early yesterday morning as a result of wounds inflicted by Lee McCarthy, also a deputy sheriff.

Both men were employed by the Hunter Detective agency and were assigned to guard all whisky shipments of the American Distilling company, 1106 South State street.

The shooting, which occurred on Jan. 5, was done while McCarthy was slightly under the influence of liquor, according to police of the South Clark street station.

It is said that while the men were watching the unloading of a car of whisky, an altercation arose. According to the police, McCarthy had started to throw a wagon driver who happened to be a friend of Holahan.

When Holahan voiced his objection, it is said, McCarthy drew his revolver and fired.

McCarthy was arrested and arraigned before Municipal Judge Stewart on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He was released under bonds.

McCarthy was rearrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolmen Lannon and Doyle of the South Clark street station, at his home at 230 East Fifty-first street.

He is being held at the South Clark street station pending the inquest, which will be held today.

THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB

How do you like to settle the food bills for 60,000,000 people each year? Dottie Smith, 6040 Carpenter street, writes checks to pay for all the nourishment consumed by the multitudes who eat in the 105 John R. Thompson restaurants and finds time in addition to hire all of the cashiers and office help and outline their daily duties. When time hangs heavy on her hands she rides out to oversee her employer's two farms, check over their entries in horse and stock shows.

Of course, the great daily flood of bills from the butcher, the baker, and edibles maker that flows into and over the executive offices at 350 North Clark street must be checked over and verified. In many cases the civilian "mess sergeant" has to go out and straighten up tangles in other people's books and "keep food firms honest."

"The busiest people are always the happiest, don't you think so?" inquired Miss Smith from behind her mountain of "Please remit." "If everybody could find a job that would take every minute of his or her time in the working day, and leave a little over to think about after hours, we wouldn't have nearly so much opportunity to plan mischief. After sixteen years of it, I can truthfully say that I like this work."

NO LICENSES FOR BILLIARD ROOMS; CITY IS AT FAULT

Chicago's 1,900 billiard rooms are operating without licenses because the city lacks the machinery to make collections. On Dec. 29, the council passed an ordinance creating a commission to govern wrestling shows and billiard rooms. The ordinance called for $1,000 license fee from the room keepers and a $5 fee for examination.

As yet Mayor Thompson has not named the commission of seven, and the city collector's office has refused to issue any licenses, lacking power to do so until the roomkeepers have been O. K'd by the commission to be.

The merchants' association issued a vigorous protest yesterday against the linking of its name and the election with the recent murder of two Chinese.

"We do not even know the man who was murdered or the name of the man who was killed before him," the state ward declared. "We protest vigorously against linking the election with any criminal activities, as our association is an old and honorable one and does not descend to gang warfare, as so many novelists would have the Caucasians believe."

BULLETS FLY IN THRILLING RACE WITH STOLEN CAR
Crawford avenue was the scene of a thrilling automobile race and a running battle in which many shots were fired last night when Patrolman Joseph Krizan of the Pullman station commanded an automobile and pursued a stolen car.

Philip Grossman, 800 West Madison street, was walking in Crawford avenue near Roosevelt road when he saw his automobile, which had been stolen going south in Crawford avenue. He called Policeman Krizan, who stopped an automobile, and together, they gave chase.

The driver of the stolen car speeded up at Krizan's command to stop. Krizan kept up a revolver fire as the pursued car tore down the avenue. At Twenty-second street it turned west and escaped. Krizan believes that one of his shots wounded the driver.

Train Kills Morton Grove Farmer in Glen View
Frank Poloski of Morton Grove, Ill., a farmer, was instantly killed late Saturday night by a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train near Glen View, while driving across the tracks in the Waukegan road. His horse also was killed and the buggy demolished. Poloski is survived by his widow and four small children.

WIFE MEETS HER RIVAL; SPOUSE CALLS FIRE BOYS

Matrimonial Verdun Is Staged in Depot.

In blissful ignorance and content, according to Mrs. Dorothy Kaempf, 1718 South First avenue, Maywood, Ill., her husband, George, and Louise Pike, 22 years old, 2955 Rockwell street, watched the flying scenery from the window of an Aurora, Elgin and Chicago third rail train as it sped into Chicago from Elmhurst yesterday.

It got on Mrs. Kaempf's nerves, especially as she says, she had trailed them with a witness for three weeks in an effort to "get the goods on 'em." So she finally went up and sat in the seat across the aisle and glared.

Kaempf Leaves Train.
"Stay on the train," Kaempf hastily warned his companion. "I'm going to get off at Marshallfield avenue."

He did and, catching a taxicab, went to the terminal. Wells and Adams streets, where, his wife asserts, he intended to meet the other woman before she could do anything.

But he was too slow. Mrs. Kaempf sank a hand into the Pike woman's hair and called for the police. The women fought. George fled to engine house No. 1 of the fire department, near by.

"Come quick," he shouted. "Bring your hose. A woman's being murdered in the station!"

Then he dashed away and disappeared. A police call was sent in.

Women in Clawing Contest.
When the South Clark street police appeared, the women had managed to claw most of the clothing from each other's back. At the station, Mrs. Kaempf explained she had been told at the Court of Domestic Relations that she should get witnesses to her husband's waywardness, as she asserts is fact, and then have them arrested.

The Pike woman was held at the South Clark street detention home and Mrs. Kaempf allowed to go after promising to be on hand today to swear out a warrant for her rival's arrest.

CHINESE ELECT W. P. LEE AS THEIR ILLINOIS CHIEF

William P. Lee, 5127 Archer avenue, was elected official representative of the Chinese in Illinois by a plurality of more than 200 votes, it was announced last night by the Chinese Merchants' association. The election in Chinatown, was held last week. Jack Lem was elected local president, although Mr. Lee's position is of higher rank among the orientals.

The merchants' association issued a vigorous protest yesterday against the linking of its name and the election with the recent murder of two Chinese.

"We do not even know the man who was murdered or the name of the man who was killed before him," the state ward declared. "We protest vigorously against linking the election with any criminal activities, as our association is an old and honorable one and does not descend to gang warfare, as so many novelists would have the Caucasians believe."

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Question.
What is the best paying position you ever held?

Where Asked.
The Answers.

Edward H. Hadick, 3811 North Seeley avenue, Lincoln park policeman—I was a deputy sheriff of Cook county under Sheriff Strassheim in 1909 and I made more money then than I have ever made since. My salary was $166.66 a month, with extra money from mileage fees and serving summonses.

Albert Ney, 681 West Madison street, laborer—The best paying job I ever had was out at the gas house in Oak Park unloading coke and coal. They paid us 50 cents a ton for unloading, and I often made as high as $8 or $10 a day. When they got slack we were laid off. I'd appreciate a good job.

Arthur Thiessen, 2812 Lincoln avenue, printers' apprentice—My present job is the best paying I ever had. I have been an apprentice for about ten or eleven months and am drawing down $25 a week. That isn't so bad for an 18 year old boy, is it?

Dugan Lewis, 3635 South Michigan avenue, auto mechanic—Work as an auto mechanic was the best paying job I ever had, but it was when things were better. A couple of years ago a top mechanic got $200 a month or better.

Edward Fisher, 2031 Lincoln avenue, dyer—The best job I ever had paid me $100 a month with board and room. I was a hospital steward on the steamship New Amsterdam during the first two years of the war. Then I went into the Holland army.

MARY WILL NAME OPERA BUSINESS CHIEF TOMORROW

The final conference for the selection of a business manager for the Chicago Opera association will be held tomorrow. Manager Mary Garden announced this last night. She denied the selection had already been made and that the appointee would be named today.

"I consider the manager a very important man," Miss Garden said. "I am not going to appoint him hastily."

Miss Garden refused to comment on the possibility of the post being filled by Charles L. Wagner of New York. Miss Garden's concert tour manager last fall. Mr. Wagner arrived in Chicago yesterday in time to attend a conference held in Miss Garden's suite at the Blackstone.

It should have read Detective Sergeant Frank Johnson. The explanation below the accompanying cut Detective Sergeant Frank Johnson was mentioned. Again it should have been Detective Sergeant Frank Johnson.

In reporting the arrest of robbers in the home of State Senator A. C. Clark, THE TRIBUNE yesterday gave the address of one, John F. Haynes, as 4611 Emerald avenue. Peter Reid, who resides at that address, asserts no such person as Haynes live there.

A POLITE SMILE PAYS, GIRL SAYS; HERS WINS $50

No Trouble Too Great to Help Out a Stranger.

An old Hindu proverb says there are two kinds of politeness—skin deep and ingrown. The politeness reporter found the first yesterday in large gobs. He discovered the second in Miss Mary Deffert, 938 Rush street. She got the day's $50 prize.

The day's wanderings ranged from Sixty-third street, south, nearly to Evanston. It included a dozen aliases, three narrow escapes from arrest, one near battle, and an accusation that the politeness reporter was a street masquerader. It was 3 o'clock before the reporter hit upon his last—and successful—idea. He began a canvass of apartments, hotels, rooming houses, and restaurants for "Mr. Dennis Tierney."

"Nerve of Some People!"
The first place tackled was a palatial apartment house on north Sheridan road. There were twelve bells in the plates in the tiny lobby. The reporter rang them all at the same time.

There was a noise of opening doors. "Whaddya want?" squealed a high female voice.

"Mr. Dennis Tierney," the reporter shouted back.

"He don't live here," the voice said, and it continued, presumably to a neighbor: "The nerve of some people! Why don't they look at the door plates before they ring us?"

At the next score of places there were varying replies—all of the same tenor. But nowhere was there that politeness that sometimes is known as the "voice with a smile."

At 938 Rush Street.
Journeying onward, the reporter continued his search. He came to 938 Rush street. He rang the bell. A young woman in a simple black gown answered the door.

"Is Mr. Tierney home?" queried the reporter.

"Tierney?" she smiled. "Why, I'm afraid he doesn't live here. Come in and keep warm, and I'll see if any of the other folks here know him." She held the door wide open. The reporter entered as she disappeared upstairs. In a moment she returned.

"No, no one knows him here." Again she smiled. "Are you sure you have the right address?" The reporter exhibited a bit of paper with the number and street penciled thereon.

"His brother gave me that and told me I would find him here. I want to see him on very important business," he explained.

"Well, that's too bad," she mused. "You just wait here a minute until I get my coat, and I'll run around to the neighbors and see if I can't locate him for you." She did. The reporter watched her through the glass in the front door. No less than seven houses did she visit.

"They just don't seem to know him around here—there must be some mistake," she said when she returned. "I'm awfully sorry. Isn't there some way you can get in touch with his brother again? Has he a phone? I'll let you use ours—"

A Smile Always Pays.
Then the reporter identified himself. "Politeness reporter?" she asked. "Why—why, I'm afraid I don't know just what you mean. I don't get THE TRIBUNE, but, believe me, I'll order it tomorrow."

"Polite? O, I don't know. I found out a long while ago that the best way of getting along was to smile, and talk nice, and oblige people all I could. Then, when I want something, everybody—well, everybody—is obliging to me. It works both ways, don't you see?"

"If I got $50 just for being polite to you, that $50 is going right straight home to my mother—that's all. And thanks, awfully."

Accused of Being a Masquerader.
On Michigan boulevard Saturday night the reporter asked a woman where the Union station was. She called a policeman and declared the reporter to be a masquerader. He climbed into a taxicab and drove to Clark and Randolph streets to stop in the intersection. Four traffic cops "climbed" him at the same time.

A rear loop high class hotel ousted him for trying to get a $1.50 room. A cigar store clerk grew peeved when the reporter tried to purchase cigars for the "same price they are sold across the street."

At a dancing pavilion J. Francis O'Connell of 7617 South Peoria street helped a girl find her lost companion

This January Sale of House-Dresses

No detail in the way of smart style or fine material has been overlooked in the house-dresses prepared for this January sale.

Styles That Are "Different"
Pricings Uncommonly Moderate

And, too, every practical point commends these house-dresses, for their fashioning means excellent service and successful laundering.

At $5.75—House-Dresses
in Lovely Plain Shades

An attractive touch is given by fine white folds on pockets, sleeves and at neckline. It is seldom, indeed, that house-dresses such as these are priced $5.75. Sketched at the right.

House-Dresses in Surplice
Style, Very Smart, $6.95

In this dress, sketched at the left, bias bindings are cleverly used. The buckled belt is an original note. In colorful checks and plaids, priced in the sale at $6.95.

Priced From $2.95 to $7.75
Are Other House-Dresses.

Charmingly Varied Colors and Cleverly Combined Fabrics Mark the New Sport Suits and Frocks for Women and Misses

Never was there a season when more of fashion interest was told in terms of color and fabric. And the unerring skill of this section in achieving the out-of-the-usual in the new finds splendid opportunity for expression in this phase of the mode, as these suits and frocks delightfully attest.

Misses' Suits With Striped Skirts, $75
Women's Suits With Velveteen Coats, $135

That these suits are in black and white is positive assurance of their vogue. The suit sketched third at right, for women, has Angora embroidery on the black velveteen coat and a skirt of white serge, $135.

The misses' suit, first at the left, has a skirt striped in black and white, and a coat of white flannel, $75.

Then there are suits of wool jersey in white or colors, some with accordion-pleated skirts, and suits of all white serge. Prices vary with style and material from $25 to $75.

Skirts of plaided serges and prunella cloth are featured among the newest arrivals. They are distinguished by uncommonly smart cut and expert tailoring. The skirt second at left is of black and white serge, $20. The skirt first at right is of tan, beige and white stripe, $27.50.

Fourth Floor.

In the January Sale of Knit Underwear
Women's Union Suits Priced $4.85

These are union suits of exceptionally fine qualities. They are wool-mixed kinds in several weights and styles, including the "Eiffel fashioned" union suits. Unusual at $4.85.

Women's Union Suits
Greatly Reduced, $3.85

Fine ribbed mercerized and wool-mixed union suits in low neck styles, ankle length.

Women's cotton ribbed union suits in several styles, $1.85

Women's Tights, Vests and Drawers Reduced,
Priced at 85c, $1.85 and $2.85 Each

In these groups are undergarments of wool-mixed and cotton fabrics. They are priced according to garment and quality at 85c, $1.85 and $2.85 each.

Third Floor, North.

Crepe de Chine Night-Dresses, $5
Among the Remarkable Values in the January Sale

It is difficult to recall when values such as are the keynote of the January Sale have been possible. Immediate selection will result in most substantial economy, for seldom are night-dresses so superior in every way so low priced.

Excellent Fabrics Fashioned in the Styles
Termed "Tailored"—with Simple Trimming

Every preference is here considered, for sleeveless and sleeved types are most delightfully represented. The sketch illustrates several of these in varied styles. The pricing is indeed decidedly moderate for such night-dresses.

Silken and Philippine Undergarments at January Sale Priced
New assortments arrive every day to make choosing always advantageous. Only personal inspection can convey the beauty of the styles and the fineness of the materials which characterize these undergarments in the January Sale.
